Construction Under Way on Local Sewer

Expect To Complete Job in Five Months

125 men are employed on work suspended several months ago at Jefferson.

With a force of more than 100 men, operations on Jefferson's $50,000 sewer project is under way. The sewage disposal system, on which progress had been suspended since mid-winter, is again being projected along its underground course toward completion, to serve the sanitary needs of the community.

J. P. McGill, superintendent in charge of construction work, said that it would probably take five months to complete the system. Weather conditions and unforeseen handicaps which may be encountered in the various excavating phases may, of course, affect the work to the extent that several weeks more might be required before actual service may be put into use. It is planned, however, to expedite construction work as much as possible.

Mr. McGill said he expects to have the force to be augmented to about 125 men on the job.

Digging operations are now in progress on Market Street, while Mr. McGill intends to start a crew working on the disposal plant within a few days. The plant was almost completed before work was suspended several months ago.

Steve Watkins, Lexington civil engineer, has assigned J. P. McGill as resident engineer. As technical supervisor, Mr. Parker will represent underwriters of the project, with the W.P.A. made it possible to resume construction.

Revised plans for construction call for curtailing the sewer system on the east side of town. The eastern area will be abandoned with the exception of those properties abutting Main Street.

New Manager Installed At Bowles Bros. Garage

Chester F. Bowles, proprietor of Bowles Bros. Garage here and wholesale and retail distributor of Aetna oil products in this county, said today that the assumption of gasoline and oil continues to hold a high mark. Bowles business good among his county dealers.

Mr. Bowles just recently installed a new manager in the garage. That position is now being filled by Reid Martin, former supervisor of Aetna service stations in the county.

The many friends of Mr. Bowles are glad to welcome his active participation in the garage and filling station business here where he has been serving the public for so long a time.

Gov. Johnson Designates Sept. 22 for Observance of S. S. 130th Anniversary

Extensive Plans Have Made For State-Wide Celebration.

Rev. James A. McCaleb, director of the celebration commemorating the Sunday School's 130th anniversary in Kentucky today, "We are delighted that our State's Chief Executive has honored our celebration of the 130th Anniversary of Kentucky's First Sunday School by designating the fifth day of September as the fifth day of September in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and forty, and in the year of the Commonwealth one hundred and forty-ninth (Seal)." Keen Johnson.

Whereas, extensive plans have been made for a State-wide observance of the 130th anniversary of the founding of this Sunday School.

Now, therefore, as Governor of the Commonwealth of Kentucky, I do hereby proclaim Sunday, September 22, 1940, as the day for the celebration of the 130th anniversary of Kentucky's First Sunday School.

Given under my hand and seal, this the fifth day of September, in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and forty, and in the year of the Commonwealth one hundred and forty-ninth (Seal).

J-Town Teacher Injured in Fall

Former Republican Leader Buried Tues. in Cave Hill

Political and other circles of the County are this week circling the untimely death of Harry A. Vols, once prominent Republican leader.

A charge from his 12-gauge shotgun ended his life at 59 years Sunday night about 9 o'clock at his home, Blankenbaker Lane at Brownboro Road. He had been in ill health for several months and was suffering from a general nervous breakdown.

He was president of the Zeta Psi Company grain firm and was a former president of the Louisville Water Company. Having made several successful and several unsuccessful political races in his career, his last effort was for County Commissioner, where he was defeated in 1938. He served several years as chairman of the local city and county committee.

The property owned by Mr. Vols, a 60-acre tract, which he bought in 1937, was originally a part of the Zachary Taylor burial place near the Taylor burying ground.

Mr. Vols' wife and one son, Mr. Vols, Jr., survived.

The funeral will be held from the Tuesday afternoon and interment was in Cave Hill Cemetery.

Shively To Cover Ditch: Opposes Louisville Annex

Trustees of the Town of Shively are to take bids for inclosing an open ditch which crosses property on the Dixie Highway, where several residences are located. While Shively is in the district, the area sought by the metropolis, owing to wealth represented by the area, is estimated at millions of dollars in assessed value involved. It is said that the area is one of the best in the area.

The area concerned is a section of the municipality of the town of Shively, which is a city of the sixth class. It is, therefore, opposed in Shively against Louisville's encroaching on their territory.

Fire Damages Co. Landmark

Wetherby apartment house at Middletown scene of heroic flame fighting Sunday.

The apartment house owned by L. P. Wetherby, of Middletown, was damaged by fire Sunday night. The St. Matthews Fire Department answered the call and made quick time in reaching the scene.

Midtown certainly turned out as volunteer workers for men and women alike did what they could to save property endangered and to assist the fire department who worked valiantly. It was reported that one of the firemen was overcome by smoke.

This old house, known to the older residents as "Dave Place," is one of the town's landmarks, reputedly being 150 years old and one of the stories in connection with its history is that Lafayette once stopped there. The building is now divided into apartments and the fire is said to have started when one of the lodgers on the second floor was smoking.

In an interview with Mr. Wetherby, he stated: "We are very thankful to the firemen who assisted us and too much praise cannot be made of the St. Matthews firemen. They were very brave and did their work well. Also several who were assisting have told us that the most outstanding efforts were made by Fulton Tyler, an employee at the Middletown garage. How he braved the many risks that he took, can only be described by those who witnessed them, and his anticipation of the proper move to do next, was instrumental in keeping the loss as low as it is. Fulton is a home-town boy and has been an employee of mine from a little boy. He has been a 'business man' since he was a boy and has been in the fire service for many years. He is a member and active worker in the Firemen's Association. See his advertisement elsewhere in this issue."

Beulah Church Elder Dies This Morning

Elwood Baker passes at the Baptist Hospital after about a year's illness.

Just as The Jeffersonian is ready for the press this, Thursday morning, news comes of the death of Elwood Baker, highly esteemed citizen of Fern Creek and an elder in Beulah Presbyterian Church.

Mr. Baker, in ill health since last October, of a complication of diseases, had been battling valiantly for restoration, longing to be spared to his beloved home and to his church, whose interests were second only to those of his immediate household.

He had been to the hospital and been taken home; then returned to the hospital, where he had several blood transfusions, the blood greatly contributed by young men of his neighborhood, but all efforts proved in vain.

Born as a son of the late Peter Baker, and reared and living all his life at 61 years at Fern Creek, there was possibly no one in the entire section more highly esteemed than Elwood Baker. Quiet unassuming, retiring in his habits, he had been a member of the church since his youth, and was a devoted and successful farmer.

He was married to Mrs. M. M. Baker, and they had several children. He was a devoted and successful farmer, and was a member of the church since his youth, and was a devoted and successful farmer.

Jefferson's 4-H Clubs Get Honors at Fair

Both Boys and Girls Make Winning Entries

A year's earnest work brings reward competing with other counties.

Jefferson County's 4-H boys and girls, as usual, won a goodly number of awards at the State Fair. The girls' entries made high Thursday, were arranged and judged Friday and the ribbons reflect something of the worth-while work being done in this line within Jefferson's boundaries. Followers, among the awards as reported from Lexington:

Helen Louise Schneider, Maple Grove Club, won the grand championship in 4-H Club canning exhibits and was awarded a trip to the National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago. She had 15 jars of beans, soup, relish and other vegetables in her exhibit. Miss Schneider also won the county championship this year.

A 17-year-old girl and a sophomore in college, Miss Schneider has been in club work for several years, starting in the Beuchel club. However, in a brief report on her club work for several years, she stated that she had never "tried to cover too much territory" in her work, striving rather for superior achievement in only one or two things.

"Not only have I had excellent training in the 4-H organization but the social opportunities are tremendously helpful," she emphasized. "I've met boys and girls who have ideals and courage and ability, who want to do good work and to help, in a small way, the nation's agriculture," she concluded.

In the clothing contests ribbons won by the following: Lillian Hettlinger, Maple Grove Club, won 1st ribbon; Frances Louise Schneider, Maple Grove Club, won 2nd ribbon; Helen Louise Schneider, Maple Grove Club, won 3rd ribbon.

Other incomplete awards, as planned from day by day's events, included: Jake Maddox, Jr., of Worthington, State championship in Pottery, winning on white and barbed robs.

John Elmer Kalmey to day has won first prize and second prizes on cows shown.

Jefferson County clubs as a whole scored first on a group of white ribbons and fourth on a group of Jerseys.

A 4-H dairy judging contest, the Jefferson won second place. Judging team were composed of John Elmer Kalmey, Laydon; Earl Ross, Jenn, Fern Creek, and Jerome McCarthy, Lyndon.

Additional 4-H winnings will appear in the columns next week.

In room improvement work, Ann Deutch, Fern Creek, won two ribbons, and Helen Hettlinger, Maple Grove, won one ribbon.

In the record book entries, a white ribbon went to Jane Kleinstaub, Maple Grove, and red ribbon to Mary Bernice Vernon, Maple Grove, and Geraldine Isaacs, High View. In clothing work, white ribbons also went to Carolyn Miller, Fern Creek, and Ruth Mason, Middletown.

A two weeks' post graduate course in psychiatry has been announced for September 23-October 5 at Central State Hospital at Lakeland, according to Dr. G. Wilson, director of hospitals and mental hygiene.

Dr. Wilson further stated he hoped to have the Lakeland institution accepted as an accredited one for residence work by psychiatrists and that this is the only institution in the State having such chance now.

Among outstanding psychiatrists over the country, who have been engaged to lecture at this institute, are Dr. Spafford Ackerson, University of Louisville; Dr. Maurice Levine, University of Cincinnati; Dr. L. D. Reichard, United States Public Health Service Hospital, Lexington; Dr. Franklin G. Ebaugh, of Denver; Dr. Wilson and specialists from Cornell, Columbia and the University of Colorado.

BIG REGION SERVED BY QUICKENBUSH FAIR

A large part of Eastern Kentucky is served by the annual festival and fair held each fall at the Quickenbush Agricultural Experiment Substation at Quickens, Breathitt County. Dates of this year's fair are September 26-27.

In addition to displays of farm crops, livestock, home and school exhibits, one of the division will be for 4-H Club members, of whom there are many thousands in the eastern counties will hold a parade, after which outstanding clubs, members and leaders will exhibit their projects.

Folk dancing, ballad singing games and contests are other features of this annual two-day fair for Eastern Kentucky.

The following enrolled: Mrs. W. C. Carthens, Miss Julia Carthens, Mrs. Hattie Davis, Mrs. Taylor Bradbury, Mrs. John Coddie, Jr., Mrs. Paul Lemaster, Mrs. Guy Markwell, Miss Elizabeth Russell, Mrs. Andrew Russell, Mrs. Bain Williams, Mrs. George Wolfen, Mrs. Arle Money, Mrs. Carl Bosa, Mrs. Edward Russell and Mrs. Joseph Russ.

An interesting lesson was presented by Miss Julia Carthens on the subject of "The Booklets were completed.

The Municipal Hikers were invited for supper on September 26 and plans were made for their entertainment. Arrangements were made for securing material and making coin purses and bill-folds.

The meeting adjourned to meet with Mrs. Guy Markwell on October 6.

HIGH VIEW

The High View Homemakers met with Mrs. Blanche Jones, on Highland Ave., Thursday, August 6.

The meeting was called to order and the subject of the day was "State One of the Most Important Things You Consider Necessary for Your Physical Life or Health." Different answers were given to this important question.

Roll call followed by our secretary, Mrs. Korfage, and the paying of our dues.

The "Camp News" report was given and all those who attended spoke of the pleasure the vacation and the eagerly looked forward to another year.

Mrs. Wright gave a talk on Styles, which gave each one some idea of the new fall and winter colors and designing of garments. Casual, classic and comfortable was her motto.

MOVINGS

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Cooper grocers at the old W. M. Swan store, are moving next week into the Swan house, at the rear of the store. This place has just been vacated by Mr. and Mrs. John H. Heston and family who have moved to the Tway farm on Hurstbourne Lane.

There is no open season for beaver and otter in Kentucky. As the season is almost over, it is requested that trappers be requested for their own future good, not to take raccoons, but to let them live and multiply.

The trapping season for 1940 begins November 24 and closes January 9, 1941, except for the red fox, which season begins December 1 and ends December 31.

HOLY TRINITY OPENS WITH INCREASED ATTENDANCE

The Holy Trinity School opened Monday, September 9, with one new teacher added, making 11 in the faculty.

The enrollment has increased from 415 of last June to 440.

The teachers will be Sister Genesee, principal and 6th grade; Sisters Huberta and Estelle, 7th grade; Sister Jane, 6th grade; Sister Josephine, 5th grade; Sister Mark, 4th grade; Sister Magdalen, 3rd grade; Sister Conrad, 2nd, and Sister Lourana, 1st grade. The music teachers will be Sisters Vincenta and Suzanne. The Parent-Teachers will serve lunches at the school daily.

Few pedestrians, and especially those who are not drivers themselves, realize how difficult it is for approaching drivers to see them during dusk and darkness, the booklet asserts. If the walker is wearing dark clothing, less than five per cent of the light which falls on him is reflected back to the driver's eyes. Rain, wet pavements and glaring headlights make matters even worse.

When wearing dark clothing the pedestrian is all but invisible at a mere 100 feet away, it is shown. If he wears something white, or carries a handkerchief or newspaper, he can be seen fairly easily at that distance.

"Never depend upon the driver's ability to see you at night," the booklet urges.

Mr. W. J. Falkenberg will return Friday from a week's stay at Lexington and Frankfort.

Mrs. Harold Wickel and Mrs. William Graves have returned from short stay at Lafayette, Ind., where they accompanied Mrs. Welke's daughter, Miss Doris Muth, a student at Purdue University.

Mr. and Mrs. James Kirk have returned to their home, Maryville, Tenn., after a visit with Mr. and Mrs. Charles Sord.

Miss Carolyn Taylor, Montgomery, Ala. and Miss Mary Wilson, Cincinnati, were Labor Day week-end guests of Mrs. T. H. Cooper and Mr. Cooper.

STUDENTS OFF TO COLLEGE

Miss Mary Arterburn is guest of Mrs. J. H. Steele in Washington, D. C. this week and will leave Monday for Chicago, where she will attend the Chicago Art School this winter.

Miss Doris Muth left Sunday for Lafayette, Ind., where she has enrolled for her sophomore year at Purdue University.

Miss Virginia Sord has registered to enter U. of L. this year.

Miss Katie Lee Snyder will go to Lexington next week, where she will re-enter U. of K.

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Lichtfeld's guests at cards, Thursday, were Mr. and Mrs. Joe De Hart, Miss Helen Lichtfeld and Mr. Bernard Hande.

Drivers Won't Hit
What They Can See

No single factor contributes more to the traffic accident problem than the pedestrian's invisibility at night, according to "Smash Hits of the Year," tenth annual booklet published by The Travelers Insurance Company in the interests of highway safety.

Few pedestrians, and especially those who are not drivers themselves, realize how difficult it is for approaching drivers to see them during dusk and darkness, the booklet asserts. If the walker is wearing dark clothing, less than five per cent of the light which falls on him is reflected back to the driver's eyes. Rain, wet pavements and glaring headlights make matters even worse.

When wearing dark clothing the pedestrian is all but invisible at a mere 100 feet away, it is shown. If he wears something white, or carries a handkerchief or newspaper, he can be seen fairly easily at that distance.

"Never depend upon the driver's ability to see you at night," the booklet urges.
